

This comment is in regards to the possibility that Low Power FM radio service will be replacing current FM radio service. PLEASE DO NOT DO THIS!!! Over the last 10 years, the quality of radio programs has continually decreased to the point that I listen to only one station whenever I am in my car (which is a lot). That station is K-LOVE (94.3 in my community). This station truly provides "positive & encouraging" music and messages that are family-friendly. I, and quite a few of my friends and colleagues, find K-LOVE programming to be truly valuable, and if LPFM service is allowed to overtake current FM service, we would lose this much-appreciated and much-loved station. I can honestly say that, since K-LOVE is one of the few stations that offers this type of music, if it were to go off the air I would not listen to the radio at all! With all the families in my community with young, impressionable children, K-LOVE is indispensable. It allows us to listen to the radio without worrying about what those little ears will hear. Please don't take that away from us. Thank you.
